MADRID, November 30.

OUR woollen manufactory improves every day more and more, by means of the great number of foreigners who come over to be employed in it. There are above sixty different places where this manufacture is carried on; and in order to encourage the parties concerned in it, there is a talk of reviving the old edicts which prohibit the exportation of wool. Mr Keene, Ambassador from the king of Great Britain, has lately had another long conference with the ministry, relating to the settlement of the English upon the Musquito Shore in America and the fort they have built upon the Island of Ratan. Our court pretends, that those settlements are contrary to the tenor of the late treaty of Aix la Chapelle; but on the other hand, the British court thinks it has a right to support them, by virtue of three preceding treaties, which were not abolished by that of Aix la Chapelle. This incident seems to have somewhat retarded Mr. Keene's negociation concerning a free navigation in the West-Indies; but it is not doubted but proper measures will be found out to accommodate this affair.

The court has sent fresh orders to the commandants of places in America, relating to the conduct to be observed by Guarda Costas in those parts.

Stockholm, Dec. 10. The coronation of the king and queen was solemnized the 7th instant, with great magnificence, in the same manner their late majesties were crowned in the year 1720. The king has given to the States of the kingdom a new act of assurance, by which he confirms to them the maintenance of the form of government as now established.

London, Dec. 17. Last Saturday orders were given for taking down the ornaments, lamps, &c. erected in the Opera-house for celebrating the birth of the duke of Burgundy.

London, Dec. 19. Last night the corpse of the lord Bolingbroke was privately interred in the family vault at Battersea.

The grand electoral congress, that will be shortly held at Munich, at which the elector of Mentz, the elector of Palatine, and the elector of Cologne, will be present, with the elector of Bavaria, attracts the eyes of all Germany, more especially since Mr. Burrish, the English minister, is resolved to repair thither from Ratisbon; and the French minister Mr. Guilbriant, comes thither with the elector of Cologne.

We hear that an act will be brought in this session to make some additional provisoes to the act for changing the stile.

Dresden, Dec. 19. A person here having invented a composition which perfectly resembles indico, has obtained leave of the court to carry his invention in execution, and for this purpose has hired the castle of Wolckenstein, where he proposes to carry on his manufacture. Private letters from the North say, that the accession of certain powers to the treaty of Petersburgh will be brought again upon the carpet next year, with some additional stipulations.

Paris, Dec. 24. The British commissaries continue to endeavour to settle with those of our court, the respective limits in America; but it appears that this affair meets with many difficulties, by reason of the extent which each crown pretends to give its territories.

London, Dec. 21. We hear that orders have been sent to his majesty's yards, to expedite the several men of war intended to be sent to North America, and the West Indies.

Some letters by the last mail from Spain, say, that Admiral Stuart was sailed with the squadron of men of war under his command, but to what place bound they were not certain, tho' it was generally believed, according to the course he steer'd, he was destined for the West-Indies.

Our correspondent at Paris writes, that the East India company continue to embark on board their ships vast quantities of manufactures, as well as considerable sums in ready monies; together with artillery, naval and warlike stores; so that it is generally believed they mean to push their projects in those parts with all imaginable vigour; which is the more probable, as some men of war are to proceed thither some time next month.

London, Dec. 24. It has been agreed, by and between his majesty and the dey of Algier, that the passes of the present form should remain in force until the thirtieth day of October 1752, at which time the passes of the new form are to commence; except only in the case of ships going to the East-Indies, or other remote voyages, whose passes are to continue good for the space of three years from the thirtieth day of October 1751.

It is thought somewhat extraordinary, that in all our letters from Francfort or Ratisbon, there are no guesses made as to the real design of the congress at Munich; but whatever the plan, at present, may be, one may, without the gift of prophecy, pronounce, that if the four electors are brought to concur in the same measures, which is not altogether impossible, it must be to very weighty arguments that they owe their conviction, which, no doubt, will do great honour to that orator by whom they are applied.

We hear that some new regulations are intended to be made in the offices for the revenue, particularly as to collecting some branches thereof.

Paris d'ou main, Dec. 27. Letters from Genoa advise, that, after the example of several other cities of Europe, an academy of painting, sculpture, and civil and military architecture, is just erected there under the direction of the senate.

London, Dec. 26. It has been some time observed, that the administration in Spain have been gradually changing the face of affairs in that monarchy; and while they observe their accustomed slowness and procrastination, in regard to foreigners, have attended their own affairs with diligence and spirit, so that they are now in a condition to act as their interest shall dictate, without receiving impressions from the most powerful of their neighbours; as all Europe will sufficiently learn in a little time.

The king of the two Sicilies has very near completed one port, and has given the necessary orders for opening and fortifying another; which will very much facilitate the commerce of his subjects; and, consequently, enrich his dominions, as their exports are very great and their imports but of little consequence.

Yesterday in the evening his majesty, who has been somewhat indisposed, was, thank God, much better.

London, Dec. 28. According to some private letters from Madrid, the court has received advice that the Isle and fortress of St. Gabriel, in the river of Plate, has been put into the hands of the Spanish troops, detached for that purpose by the governor of Buenos Ayres, in consequence of the treaty made for that purpose with the late king of Portugal; and they flatter themselves that, by this step, an end will be absolutely put to the contraband trade in that part of the world.

Denmark, Dec. 24. Mr. le Cat, a famous French surgeon, having observed that when a cold humour has fallen upon a great bone so as to produce a caries, no other method has been hitherto pursued than that of amputation, he resolved to try whether the limb might not be preserved by the extirpation of the foul bone only; accordingly being sent for to one Charles le Hec, who had the great bone of one of his legs corroded by such a humour, from the knee to the ancle, he took it entirely out; and, having carefully healed the wound, nature, as he expected, has supported the leg in such a manner, that the man walks perfectly well, without pain or any discoverable lameness.

The Abbe de la Caille, who was lately sent at the French king's expence to the Cape of Good Hope, to make astronomical observations for various purposes, and, among the rest, for settling the true situation of that remarkable promontory, which some have supposed to lie seventeen degrees forty four minutes east from the meridian of Paris; from the observation of Pierre Fontaney, and others, but fourteen degrees five minutes, relying upon the famous Dr. Halley. The Abbe de la Caille, by repeated degrees, has determined it to be but fifteen degrees four teen minutes east from Paris; so that its longitude is thirty six degrees fifteen minutes east, and its latitude thirty three degrees fifty-five minutes south; which is made public for the common benefit of all trading Nations.

Stockholm, Dec. 20. The resolution of the diet are kept most work; of which latter we only know, that by the negotiations which have been concerted between the king and the states, entire and good understanding with Russia will be established upon a firm and stable footing, that the disputes concerning the settling of limits will be adjusted to reciprocal satisfaction, and that the antient alliances which subsist between Sweden and divers powers of Europe, will be confirmed.

Rochelle, Dec. 18. There are lately arrived here commissaries from the court to inspect into the state of this port and the marine. They were charged by their commission to cause the docks and storehouses to be enlarged, and to increase the number of workmen, to the end that the ships upon the stocks may be finished with the utmost expedition, and those which are ordered to be built, begun as soon as possible.

London, Dec. 31. They write from Dungraven in Ireland, that the Salmon, Capt. Kenaedy, from South Carolina, was put in there with 4 feet water in her hold, and in great distress.

We are informed by a messenger lately arrived from Holland, that her serene highness the princess dowager of Orange, with the hereditary prince, are in perfect health.

Vienna, Dec. 18. The count de Richecourt, president of our council of regency, has received an express from Venice, with advice, that the convention which has been some time negociating at Madrid, was signed by the respective ministers, that by this convention the Empress queen has for ever renounced her reversionary right to the duchies of Parma and Placentia; in return for which, his Catholick majesty had given up his pretensions to the allodial effects of Tuscany; and that, in order to engage the king of Sardinia to accede to his treaty, and renounce the right which he has in reversion to part of the dutchy of Placentia, an equivalent was to be given him on the side of the Milanese.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE Commissioners for building the new church of St. Michael in Charles-Town, give notice, that in order to enable them to carry on the said building, they are desirous to receive the subscription-money of such persons who have already subscribed any sums for the same; and are ready to receive the further subscriptions of such other persons who are desirous to have pews in the said church. And as the commissioners have perceived a backwardness in some persons to subscribe, (notwithstanding they have an inclination to have pews in the said church) from a presumption that their subscriptions will be as well received, and give them as good a title to a pew, if made a twelve month hence as now, the commissioners therefore give this further notice, that no subscriptions will be received by them, after the first day of July next ensuing: And all persons subscribing, are desired to pay down half their subscription money, as the work is now in considerable forwardness; and the other half is expected to be paid when the roof of the church is put on, which it is imagined will be done sometime in the ensuing summer. Samuel Prioleau, jun. THE Subſcriber has to let for a term of years, to any perſon who can put on, from 15 to 20 working hands, a choice ſpot of ſavannah land, adjoining the plantation he now reſides at on Tomotley ſavannah in Prince William parith; for goodneſs and pleaſantneſs of ſituation is ſcarce inferior to any ſpot in the county, being near the church and meeting houſe, and not far from a landing, and may be incloſed with ditching and little fencing; as a little labour will make great conveniency for back water, any part being laid ſix inches over will cover the whole field.
